For Goddard, everything is a result of our imagination, and there is no distinction between fiction and reality.

In his lectures and books, Neville Goddard emphasized the power of mental imagery and its ability to create our desired outcomes. He encouraged individuals to harness the power of their imagination, fostering a deep belief that what they visualize will eventually manifest in their experiences.

The Illusion of Fiction

According to Neville Goddard, the traditional notion of fiction as mere storytelling or concocted tales holds no truth. He believed that every fictional story, be it in literature, film, or theater, carries a deeper meaning. Goddard argued that these fictional narratives are manifestations of subconscious desires and beliefs, unveiled through creative expression.

Through the lens of the Law of Attraction, Neville Goddard explained that our imaginations have the ability to shape reality. When we immerse ourselves in a fictional world, we engage our subconscious mind, which is closely connected to our manifestations. Therefore, by experiencing fictional narratives, we gain invaluable insights into our own desires and intentions.

In this context, Neville Goddard claimed that all fiction is merely a reflection of our inner world. Whether it is a fairytale or a science fiction novel, every story resonates with our deepest desires and beliefs. This concept challenges the conventional belief that fiction is nothing more than an escape from reality.

Fiction is defined as an imaginary construction which is unreal - as opposed to truth, or reality. But what is real and what is imaginary when, in a spiritual sense, all existing things are imaginary?

Mark tells the parable of the fig tree, which - having been cursed - was found withered to its roots. Calling attention to this fact, awakened imagination said: "Have faith in God. Truly I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, 'Be taken up and cast into the sea,' and does not doubt in his heart that what he has said will come to pass, it will be done for him. Therefore I tell you, whatever you desire, when you pray believe you have received it and you will." Mark 11.
